GIS Terms of Use Agreement

Date: - -

IMPORTANT -- READ CAREFULLY:

Unless otherwise specified, the GIS data provided is for your personal and non-commercial use. You may not modify, copy, distribute, transmit, display, perform, reproduce, publish, license, create derivative works from, transfer, or sell any information, obtained. The digital information provided shall remain the property of the County which shall retain all rights commensurate with ownership. The County reserves the right to deny access to certain coverages.

The GIS digital data layers are provided "AS IS"; the data layers available are updated constantly and are subject to change. The County does not warrant that the data contained in the GIS digital data layers will meet the requirements of the data User or that the operation of GIS digital data layers will be uninterrupted or error free or that all County GIS data defects will be corrected.

The County hereby disclaims any and all liability for inaccuracy or other problems with the data supplied, including but not limited to damages, claims, injuries or suits arising from such error.

The User assumes the entire risk, including quality, performance and usefulness of any data requested. The User hereby releases the County and its officers, agents and all employees and volunteers from any and all claims, damages, liability, injuries and suits arising from such inaccuracy or error.
